Crown Court Church, in the heart of London's theatreland in Covent Garden, is one of two Church of Scotland congregations in London where Scots in the city can be sure of a friendly welcome.

Membership of our gathered congregation ranges from long-term Scots expats and those of Scottish descent, to short-term students and those starting their working careers in London before, perhaps, moving elsewhere.

Those from Presbyterian traditions in other countries are welcome, as are visitors from around the world.

Worship is traditional in style. Music plays an important part with an active choir and a Sunday morning anthem.

Sunday services at 11.15 am and 6.30 pm

Twenty-minute service at 1.10 pm on Thursday.

Sunday School, Guild and Rambling & Social Club meet regularly.

Regular concerts and recitals in the church, featuring instrumental and vocal performers from all over the world.

Charity fundraising during Christian Aid Week, and throughout the year in support of a range of charities including Borderline, the charity that supports homeless and insecurely housed Scots in London.

In 2019 we will be celebrating the 300th anniversary of our first service on this site, which was held on 24 March 1719. Our aim for the Tercentenary is to 'Celebrate and Renew 300 Years of Service in Covent Garden', with a number of special events and an increased focus on service to the community around us.
